

Year 2: Bournville - The place that Cadbury built.

1824 - John Cadbury opened a grocers shop.

1847 - Cadburys moved closer to the canal for better transport links

1878 - The brothers decided they wanted better conditions for their workers.

1801 - John Cadbury was born

1831 - John Cadbury bought a warehouse to mass produce cocoa

1861 - John's sons George and Richard took over.

1879 - Bournville was built

Key Vocabulary

manufacturing	Making things
mass produced	Making a lot of something
Quaker	Quakers believe that everybody should be treated equally and should live in peace.
poverty	Not having a lot of money
trade	Buying and selling things transport	How goods are moved from one place to another
Victorian Britain	The time between 1837-1901 when Victoria was the queen.
warehouse	Where goods are stored ready to be traded.
workhouses	Places where poor people, including children, would live in exchange for working. The conditions were very bad.

Who was John Cadbury?

John Cadbury opened a grocer shop where he sold his hand made drinking chocolate.

He believed that the tea, coffee and drinking chocolate was healthier than alcohol.

How did life change for the workers of Cadbury?

The brothers George and Richard wanted to create a better place to live for their workers in Bournville

open spaces and gardens

larger houses

large windows to let light in

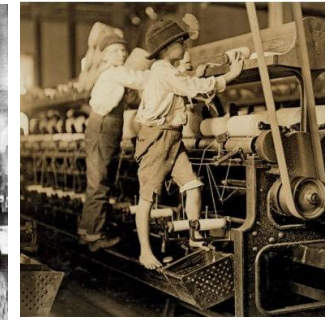

What was Victorian life like for the poor?

Poor families lived in cramped conditions.

The streets were filled with fumes from factories

Children often worked in workhouses.

What was Victorian life like for the rich?

Rich families lived in large houses with beautiful furniture and gardens.

Wealthy families often had servants or staff to cook and clean for them. Their staff sometimes lived with them in a basic attic room.