

Watch Out! - A child's guide to everyday dangers

On Friday, we were visited by members of the Solihull Rotary Club.

They presented us with some books for the children. The book is called 'Watch out!' and is a children's guide to everyday dangers. They have been delivered to children throughout the borough.

Some of the content towards the back of the book is more aimed at the older children in school, so please read the books with your child. All the illustrations in the book have been produced by children to make others aware of the dangers they may face while growing up. It not only contains lots of advice for children but also for parents/carers too, so please keep a look out for the book coming home with your child (in Reception to year 6) in the next few days.
